

ENOUGH IS ENOUGH

Your Checklist for Local Resistance

Stopping reckless development of data center depends on local opposition. Here's how to start.

Get the context the industry hides

Find out more about data centers impact and request more information at sierraclub.org/virginia

Start a local resistance Facebook group

Give your neighbors a place to gather

Make it visible

Yard signs and flyers turn concern into momentum

Publish a one-pager

Spell out how this proposal hits your community

Call and email your decision-makers

Planning commissioners and Board members must hear directly from the community

Pack the room

Show up and sign up to speak at every decision-maker meeting, even if data centers are not on the agenda

File a FOIA request

Demand transparency. If they won't give it to you, then file a FOIA to get answers hidden by Non-Disclosure-Agreements

You don't need to be an expert.
You need a few neighbors willing to start.
